VOLUME SIXTY-FOUR—NUMBER FIFTY TWO.

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24,

O. P. Schumann, Editor and Proprietor.

At Random

No more rubber pants for baby; that'll be tough on father.

Scarcity of lard means no doughnuts.

Might as well dissolve dunking clubs.

Matches may soon be rationed.

Then you'll have a good excuse for "burning" a light.

Thanks to our State Police for the Christmas greeting.

Gosh, we hope we never get a "ticket" to spoil that fine fraternal feeling.

Thanks to the boys in the service for the many Christmas greetings.

Rationing castor oil should put Leon Henderson in strong with the kiddies.

Our Santa is making a great hit with the kiddies.

To say that some are thrilled would be putting it mildly.

Aren't we going to have an ice rink for our boys and girls?

It would be worth more than it cost.

Remember how you used to love to skate?

Christmas greetings—they all say the same thing—but Beautiful reminders of absent friends.

We trust they may never be rationed.

Christmas Pageant Service

Sunday evening at Michelson Memorial church a Christmas Pageant "The Holy Nativity" was given by the Sunday school and choir.

The story of the birth of the little Lord Jesus told in pantomime was quite impressive. In these chaotic times a presentation of the mode of living of the simple folk was most inspiring. The script was read by Miss Billyann Clippert with the choir singing the lullaby.

The Christmas greens made a modest decoration with the lighted lone star appearing in the East.

The following children took the leading parts: Angels—Phyllis Milks, Phyllis Newell, Phyllis Smith, Elaine Wythe, Sara Smith and Norma Parkinson.

Mary—Emily Giegling, Joseph—Richard Miller, Watchman—Lawrence Bunker, Wisemen—Roy Milnes Jr. Warder Smith and Carl Dean, Shepherds—Ernest Miller, Warner Smith and Carl Dean Hanson.

Mrs. Jappe Smith, Mrs. Fred Lamm, Miss Johnson and Mrs. Beardsley were in charge of the program and Mrs. C. G. Clippert accompanied the choir.

Amos Hunter Succumbs To Illness

WAS OWNER OF HUNTERS DAIRY.

Amos W. Hunter, age 38, proprietor of Hunter's Dairy, and one of Grayling's youngest business men, died at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, last Friday morning at 2:50 o'clock from a kidney ailment. Ill for some two years, Mr. Hunter went to Ann Arbor five weeks ago hoping to find relief. On Dec. 15th relatives were called to his bedside as he was reported to be rapidly failing.

Amos was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter and was born in Maple Forest, Crawford County, July 3, 1904. He attended the Maple Forest school but left school to go to work when in the seventh grade. Later he began to see the value of an education and so returned to school, coming to Grayling to attend High school, graduating in 1928. He also took a correspondence course and attended a business school in Durand, where besides in Flint he worked for a couple of years. October 19, 1929 he was united in marriage to Matilda Stephan.

In 1931 he bought out the dairy business of the late Axel Peterson and, as his business had grown to a large capacity, he erected the fine new building that stands on US-27, and which bears his name. He had worked long hours of late because of lack of help and over-taxed his strength which no doubt accounted for his failing health.

He served as township treasurer of Grayling township for a couple of years; was a member of the Kiwanis club and Moose Lodge. Amos was very enterprising, always striving for something better. He had hosts of friends among the farming community as well as in Grayling.

Surviving the deceased besides the widow is one son Rex Amos, age 8 and Julie Stephan, nearly 3 years, his parents and three sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Jack Keely, Flint, Mrs. Willard Haines, Pontiac, Mrs. Wendell Giesler, Mt. Morris, Roy of Durand and Pfc. William Hunter, Gilroy, Calif., and Pvt. Leslie Hunter, Tulsa, Okla.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Michelson Memorial church, Elder Allen Schreuer of the Reorganized church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, preaching a very impressive sermon. Rev. H. W. Kuhlman also assisted in the service and with Mrs. C. G. Clippert at the organ, Mrs. Harold Jarman and Mrs. Roy Milnes sang, "Jesus, Savior Pilot Me" and "The Lord Knows Why." Pallbearers were close friends, Melvin Marshall, Roy McEvers, William J. Woodburn, Roy Smith, Joseph Cinciala, Russell Vallad, Arthur Howse and William Leng. Interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

Those from out of town in attendance at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keely and daughter, Mrs. Marian and Dorothy, Miss Eldena Dreyer, Earl Keely and Frederick Hennessy, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Haines, Pontiac;

His Merry Twinkle Means For You "A Merry Christmas"

ac; Mr. and Mrs. William Hennings and son William Jr. Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Giesler and daughter Gretchen, Mt. Morris; Pfc. William Hunter with the U. S. Army in Gilroy, Calif., and Pvt. Leslie Hunter with the Air Corps in Tulsa, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stephan, Soo; Mr. and Mrs. James Keely, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McEvers and Russell Vallad, Bay City.

Fire Destroys Roscommon Business Block

A fire destroyed a business block in Roscommon early Monday morning, causing a loss estimated at over $50,000.

Five business places occupied the structure, as follows: Kutter Bros. Hardware, Roscommon A. & P. Store, the Williams Barber Shop, the Mary Helen beauty shop and the Rutledge gasoline station.

The first alarm was turned in at 5:30 o'clock and the building, a frame, single story structure about 50 feet wide and 300 feet long, was in flaming ruins in less than 90 minutes.

Only two cash registers were saved from the hardware store while the showcase was carried out of the gasoline station.

Walter Johnson, manager of the local A. & P. store, reported loss in stock and equipment would be more than $8,000.

CARD OF THANKS

We are very appreciative to neighbors and friends for the many kindnesses and expressions of sympathy in our recent bereavement. This includes those who loaned their cars for the funeral.

Mrs. Amos Hunter and children.

Grayling 52 Kalkaska 19

Reserves Win 28-26.

Last Friday night at the Grayling gymnasium the local varsity swamped a rangy Kalkaska team to the tune of 52-19. In the preliminary game the locals again emerged victors when the Reserves downed a stubborn Kalkaska "B" squad, 28-26.

Grayling's varsity squad were complete masters of their rout, scoring early and rapid to lead at the half, 31-8. Throughout the game Grayling's veterans had things fairly well to their own liking and continued to score until the final whistle. R. Thompson, LaChapelle, Nielsen and S. Thompson led the scoring parade while Clark, Hanson and Gierke bottled the Kalkaska offense nicely. In general, the passing and all around play was an improvement from previous starts this season.

In the reserve contest, Grayling's five dominated the play in the first half to lead 18-8, but were seriously threatened in the last half and were barely able to come out on top with a narrow 28-26 decision.

The next home game is on January 22nd when Roscommon will appear for their return engagement.

Get your Tires Inspected Early

Now is the time for Michigan motorists to get that tire inspection which is essential to the rubber conservation program. Motorists throughout the country must complete the record of their first tire inspection by Jan. 31 and owners of commercial vehicles must be ready for tire inspection by Jan. 15. Don't delay—there'll probably be a last minute rush.

Sorenson Funeral Held Friday

Funeral services for Rudolph William Sorenson were held Friday afternoon at Sorenson's Funeral Home, Rev. H. W. Kuhlman officiating. During the service with Miss Ingeborg Hanson at the piano, Mrs. John Wahlstrom and Mrs. Howard Granger sang "Abide with Me." Interment was in Elmwood cemetery and the pallbearers were Conrad and Harry Sorenson, Herluf Sorenson, Johannes Rasmussen, Chris Johnson and Alfred Hanson.

Mr. Sorenson, who passed away at Mercy Hospital at 7:10 o'clock on Dec. 15th, following a paralytic stroke, suffered the day before, was born in Vester Kippinge, Falster, Denmark, June 18, 1867. His parents were the late Severin and Malene Sorenson. Coming directly to Grayling when he was 18 years old this had been his home since. He was a scaler in the lumber camps for Hanson Company. In 1903 he was united in marriage to Anna Michelson, who passed away several years ago.

He was a member of the Lutheran church and the Danish Brotherhood lodge. Surviving the deceased is one son Marius with the U. S. Army Ft. Lewis and three daughters, Mrs. Louise Hodgins, Mrs. Marja Norenberg, Port Huron and Mrs. Helen Pearsall, Pontiac. Here also are six grandchildren and one sister Mrs. Marie Jensen, Ray.

Mr. Sorenson is the last of several brothers to pass on. He had many friends who are missing him as he always made the rounds every day calling on them.

Aged Lady Dies Suddenly at Daughter's Home

Mrs. C. M. Ross, age 84 years passed away suddenly at the home of her daughter Mrs. T. P. Peterson Saturday night at 11:15 o'clock, after suffering a heart attack.

The remains were taken to her home in Vassar where funeral services were held Tuesday. Surviving the deceased are two daughters and a son, Mrs. Peterson, Grayling, Mrs. E. O. Safford, Vassar and W. J. Ross, Detroit.

Mrs. Ross had been at the Peterson home for some time, having come to spend the winter months.

Accompanying the remains to Vassar were Mr. and Mrs. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gothro.

Do you know Your Pine Trees?

Christmas tree buyers may readily distinguish one kind from another by simply examining the needles, foresters say.

Balsam fir, the tree most popular because of its pyramidal shape, rigid branches and spicy odor, has needles that grow singly on the branch and feel soft when grasped by the hand. Spruce and hemlock needles also grow singly, but spruce needles feel stiff and prickly, and hemlock needles, though rather soft, are short and blunt, and the hemlock tree is distinguished by its slender and drooping branches.

Pines, reported by the conservation department to be growing more abundant on the Michigan Christmas tree market every year, are distinguished by long needles that grow in clumps of two (red and jack pine) or five (white pine). The cedars have scale-like needles.

Douglas fir, imported from the western states, may be distinguished from native balsam fir by the pointed buds on its branch tips, and by lack of scars when the needles are plucked off. Balsam needles leave a conspicuous round scar.

 under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1919

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24,

THIS Christmas is the second we have celebrated since that dastardly attack on Pearl Harbor last December 7th. It is for us all a solemn and grim occasion to face this season with so many of our boys fighting at the front and so far from home. But we must all realize especially at this time that we are truly fighting for a great cause; we are fighting for the right to have this Christmas, and to celebrate it as we see fit.
 Therefore, as we face this day of remembering the birth of our Christ we will be thinking of the absent ones and praying for their safe and speedy return to a land that is still and always shall be free.

CHRISTMAS VACATION.

The Grayling Schools will be closed from Thursday Dec. 24 to Monday, Jan. 4 for the annual Christmas holiday.

As usual there will be considerable cleaning and repair work
 to be done in both buildings.

New Rules for Trappers

New rules for reporting by trappers and fur buyers, drawn to economize on travel and tightening local control over fur handling, were announced today by H. B. Sayre, chief of the conservation department's field administration division.

Instead of asking by mail for permit possession permits formerly issued by the Lansing office,
 trappers now will contact the local conservation officer, and after they show him the furs they wish to hold, he will issue the permit for holding the raw hides.
 Trappers should have these permits within five days after the close of the season in which the furbearers may legally be taken.
 Fur buyers, required by law
 to report the number and kind of furs, hides and pelts in their possession on the last day of the open season within 10 days after the season closes, also will stop reporting to the Lansing office.
 Now they must send their reports, duly notarized and by registered mail, to one of the conservation department's 17 district offices which administer conservation affairs in the county in which they have their place of business.

Tree Planting Must Increase

Some tree planting must be planned in the next few years if part of the stock at Higgins Lake nursery is not to go to waste, the conservation department's forestry division revealed in a report disclosing more than 13,000,000 seedling and transplant pines on hand, after a year without planting, and sales and free distribution of only 1,600,000
 in 1942 and 2,600,000 in 1941.
 The nursery seeded no pines
 this year, but seedling may be necessary in 1943 to produce stock for planting in 1945 and 1946. Seedling stock on hand,
 more than half of it Norway pine,
 is now one to three years old,
 and the half-million transplants are three to six years old. The value of the seedling stock will decline unless put into transplant beds in the next season or two.

The Weather

This surely is the coldest December we have had in quite some years, many of the old timers tell us. Sunday the temperature varied from 15 above zero to 3 below zero, the low of the week, and Monday it jumped as high as 36 above zero. Wednesday's soft balm promises future
 snow and more cold weather, however.

Yule Dinner Merits Novel Table Setting

Christmas dinner, of course, is a very special one. To add to the merriment for both homelocks and guests, here are ideas for the table setting.

Make place cards of big red apples, the name written on with icing
 from a tiny pastry tube.

For tree motif, for table or wall
 decoration, use cellophane straws,

paper-dollies, pipe-cleaners, screen
 wire, old boxes and plywood . . . a most amazing array of trees will result. Keep them simple and surprising. Try graduated funnels stacked up, with a star-shaped cookie cutter on top.

For the table centerpiece, have an acrobatic act of gingerbread men or cookie clowns balanced at precarious angles, held together with cake icing. Or for more seriousness, the whole manger scene may be made from cookie figures.

Another centerpiece can be formed by using a tall candle or wooden standard and placing pine cones
 around it.
 Candles in a log holder are very effective. Drill holes in a small curved pine log, then place the candles in these. Seal the ends with paraffin to prevent the pitch from dripping. Arrange sprigs of pine, hemlock, holly or cones around the candle holder.

Hitler Came Up the Hard Way, Says Professor

Hitler came up the hard way, developed a technique and then an art, according to Dr. Hans Reichenbach, formerly of the University of Berlin, who says the fuhrer is not one of the world's great men, but, for a time, one of the most successful.

The early technique of Hitler, says
 Dr. Reichenbach, who is professor of philosophy at the Los Angeles
 campus of the University of California, consisted in having a number of his men dispersed through each audience and instructed when to shout hell and to throw out hecklers.

"Hitler learned that nothing untied a people so much as a common hatred. Therefore, if one did not exist, it had to be created." Dr.
 Reichenbach paraphrased Voltaire:
 "If there were no Jews in Germany, Hitler would have invented them. He created an atmosphere, not a logic. He is never afraid to say something against logic, as in Mein Kampf, where he writes that if an idea is repeated often enough the people will believe it."

Dr. Reichenbach attributes much of the Nazi leader's success to an ability to start afresh after defeat.
 His riot of 1923 failed, but during nine months' imprisonment he wrote his book. Later, says the professor, he came to rely not so much on his ideas as on the way he presented them. "He does not control Germany because of a superiority of his ideas, but because of superior political organization."

The Temple of Karnak Is Architectural Marvel

The Temple of Karnak, the greatest known temple in the world, is situated in the ruins of the ancient city of Thebes, on the banks of the Nile, 350 miles southeast of Cairo.
 The site is occupied by the modern cities of Karnak and Luxor.

In the ruins are three enclosures of crude brick and in the largest enclosure is the Temple of Amen (Amon or Ammon). It was begun in the XII Dynasty and enlarged by kings of succeeding dynasties until the Ptolemies. Within the enclosure are smaller temples and an avenue
 of sphinxes leads to the main entrance of the temple, which is a huge pylon. Inside is a court traversed by a double row of immense columns and a second pylon leads into the great hall, whose roof was supported by 134 columns. All of the columns are brilliantly painted and sculptured and many of the vivid colors still remain. In the inner court are two obelisks and a colossal statue of Osiris.

All-Indian Population

The all-Indian population of Isle
 Jean Charles, one of the most isolated communities in Louisiana, was told of the United States department of agriculture's "food for victory" program during a visit of six officials of the Farm Security administration.

Eighteen of the Frenchspeaking families, who for generations have lived on a four-mile-long wooded strip of land surrounded by salt marshes below Pointe au Chien in Terrebonne parish, signed up for loans to get horses, fence wire, plowing equipment, and other supplies they will need to help defeat
 the Axis.

The 13 other families, who did not apply for the loans because the heads of families were unable to be present, applied within the next day or two. Victor Naquin, self-appointed mayor of the island, told them he wanted 100 per cent cooperation, because they had as much responsibility to help win the war as their young braves now
 in the armed services.

Wash Old Glory

How to wash the flag depends upon the material of which it is made. Colorfast cotton flags can be laundered in the tub or washer using moderately warm suds. Color-fast wool flags need cooler soapy water, and so do silk flags. Most of the little flags such as children often carry in parades are seligfast-dyed, and washing is not suggested for them.

Flag etiquette comes into the picture when hanging the flag on the line to dry. It should never be allowed to touch the ground, and should hang with the blue field to the right if fastened by the narrow side, and with the field to the left if fastened by the long side. Whether suspended from a washline for drying or from a pole for display,
 the flag always should be hung according to correct usage.

Makers of Furniture Produce War Goods

Airplane trainers and gliders instead of wooden office desks; ammunition boxes instead of metal letter-trays and waste baskets; and airplane fuel lines instead of chrome plated chair legs—this is the story of the conversion program for the furniture industry, the country's second largest producer of consumers' durable goods.

The industry in normal times produces metal and wooden furniture for the home and the office valued at about $1,000,000,000 annually, second in dollar value to consumers' goods only to the automobile industry.

Today, makers of furniture all over the country are rapidly changing over their tools and facilities not only to the production of wooden airplanes and gliders, but to a wide variety of other war items. Prime contracts and subcontracts held by the industry exceed $500,000,000. Appreciable increases in the rate of production of war goods are expected to be evident by the end of 1942. The rate of war production by the middle of next year is expected to be equal to the recent annual production of civilian items.

War equipment soon to be produced in quantity by metal furniture companies includes ammunition boxes, tail and wing assemblies for airplanes, rear fin struts, and seating equipment for planes, tanks and ships. The industry, of course, will continue to make types of metal furniture needed by the armed services here and abroad.

STUCK WITH IT

For five or six days he had been digging in the garden for an air-raid shelter. What with the rain and the clay he was not in the best of tempers. Suddenly an old friend looked over the wall.

"Digging your shelter?" asked the friend.

"No," returned the digger, "as a matter of fact I bought a swing for the children and the ropes are too long."

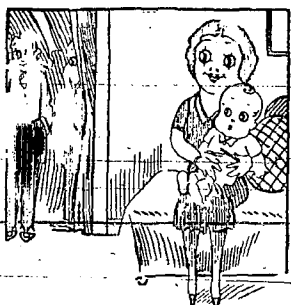

Exercise

They were discussing personal fitness. "Now, look at me," said Hobson, proudly. "For years I have had five minutes wrestling every morning and I am as fit as a fiddle."

"Whom do you get to wrestle with you?" asked one of the company.

"No need for any one," replied Hobson. "I have my collars starched well, that's all."

THE LITTLE DEARS

"How early does a baby make?"

"Up to about 6 p. m. They make their parents do it for them after that."

Very Nearly

A very old man was accosted in the village street by a stranger, who said, "I beg your pardon, but you must be very old."

"Yep," said the old man, "I'm getting on for 96."

"And you have lived all your life here," marveled the stranger.

"Not yet."

Invitation

Nothing—You've got a pretty place here, Joe, but it looks bare yet.

Cutting—Oh, it's only because the trees are a little young. I hope they'll have grown to good size before you come again.

Low Grade

Father—I don't like the looks of this report card.

Junior—I don't either, Pop. It sure is a sloppy print job.

How Sad!

"We'd better be going. I'm sure I felt a raindrop."

"Nonsense; we are under a weeping willow."

Self Defense

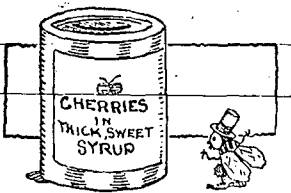

"How did you get that black eye?"

"I was protecting a little boy."

"That's noble; who was he?"

"Me."

FLY CATCHER

"Think I'll hang around until they open that!"

Truthful

There was a youth who told the truth.

He caught a fish one day.

"Six pounds it weighed,"

The young man said.

Folks laughed and turned away.

Three and Out

Mother—Why aren't you playing ball with the other little boys?

Bobby—I just got put out.

Mother—Well, you got right back; you have just as much right to play as they have.

No Joiner

"Why don't you join our club, old man?"

"My wife objects, she says the members are too exclusive."

"Yes; but she means they won't allow their wives to join."

Line of Duty

A motorist was driving along a country road when he saw a couple of repair men climbing a telephone pole.

"Look!" he exclaimed, "they must think I never drove a car before."

Education

"I hope to get on, sir, I'm taking a correspondence course to learn how to make more money, sir."

"H'm! Well, it's just too bad for you, Jones. I'm also taking one to learn how to reduce expenses."

He's Learned

Nell—What makes you think he's married?

Belle—Because he's such a good listener.

Lying

"The penalty for lying is that we come in time to believe our own lies."

Helpful Hint

"Man proposes—"

"Yes, but he needs encouragement."

Letters from Camp

Hawaii,

Dec. 9, 1942.

Dear Dad and Ruth:

I suppose you are wondering why you haven't been getting much mail from me; well folks the truth is that we are pretty busy these days so we don't have much time for writing.

I suppose you remember what happened about a year ago today. Nearly all the people around here are buying war bonds to make sure that the Japs will find it plenty tough if they ever try to come back. I can't write to Eveline and Bertha right away so I want you to tell them that I got their packages and I thank them very much, everything will come in handy.

I am sending a twenty dollar money order in this letter and folks if you ever get a little low don't be afraid to use mine; it isn't much but maybe it will help out in a pinch. Starting January first I'm buying a bond a month, it will probably be a long time before any of them get home but they will be good some day "I hope", ha, ha.

I was in town today for a few minutes and I saw a fellow in the PG and he said I could send a coconut home, so I sent one; some in though, the coconut cost ten cents and the postage fifty. I hope its a good one, that is just what they look like when they are ripe, please write and let me know if you get it. Oh yes I got my pictures the first of the month, they aren't so good or they aren't so bad. But I think I'm going to get into trouble because three was all I could get and I would like for each one of you to have one, I mean Eveline, you, Bertha and Hazel. I'll send them to you then it will be your trouble, ha, ha. I'll try and get some more as soon as I can.

All the boys here in my barracks are busy writing letters, that is one thing that is always going on after dark. All the boys have had packages from home so they all have to answer back. I received the papers you sent telling about election; well there wasn't much change in Grayling was there? Say the little City is sure doing her part in this war. I saw in the paper where the little kids are even digging up old iron and rubber.

Well folks I can't think of much more so I'll have to close. I'm feeling fine and hope this finds you the same. Write when you can. Tell everyone hello.

Buddies Hit the Coal Pile in Ireland

The nights in Ireland are a little dampish and chilly at this season of the year, and Uncle Sam's doughboys'll be wanting a bit of a fire to take the chill off the place. This photograph, taken somewhere in Northern Ireland, shows U. S. soldiers at the coal pile awaiting their turn to fill up their buckets.

Sixty some children enjoyed the Christmas party at St. Mary's hall Tuesday afternoon given by the Altar Society. A pretty tree and other yuletide decorations made the affair very festive. Individual ice cream cups with a Christmas tree center and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lozon of Detroit are happy over the arrival of a daughter on Dec. 15 at St. Francis Hospital. She is a and will be known as Emma Little mite weighing 5 1/2 pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lozon of Maple Forest and Henry Jordan are the proud grandparents.

Miss Lillian Jordan returned home Saturday morning after spending the past two weeks in Detroit visiting her sister Mrs. Chester Lozon and family. She was accompanied home by her nephews Jack and Jerry who are spending their holiday vacation with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lozon of Maple Forest and Henry Jordan here.

Junior Palmer wants to thank his friends for helping him on the Montgomery Ward scholarship plan. This plan due to the war has been discontinued so the Company paid off those who had been trying for scholarships in money, and he received $180. They suggested that they buy war bonds, so Junior purchased one one hundred dollar bond and put the remainder in postal savings.

Buy War Stamps and Bonds

Are you buying all you can? Uncle Sam is asking you that question today. Check up and see if you have bought your share. This is not a job for a few to do, but everybody to his share. The government must have money to win this war and we all have to dig in so this country can make its quota. Be sure to buy your Stamps and Bonds from the stores and bank.

Looks Like Hard Winter for Deer

Michigan's deer herd is beginning the winter with a double handicap, in the opinion of the state conservation department's game men.

Deer are reported going into their winter yards a week to two weeks earlier than in recent seasons because of heavy early snows that stayed, and the big 1942 fawn crop, following the excellent survival last year because of the mild winter, may leave a population that will tax winter food supplies in critical areas.

Point Method Of Rationing

The year 1943 will see far-reaching changes in buying and budgeting habits. Before spring, the "point" method of rationing scarce products will be in full swing. Michigan families then must decide whether to use up more points of their Ration Book No. 2 by purchasing scarcer articles or use less points by buying more plentiful ones. Incidentally, the final date for obtaining Ration Book No. 1 has been postponed to Jan. 15.

The children of the Maple Grove School and their teacher attended the Christmas program given by the Roscommon School Friday night.

Church Notes

Services were of unusual interest at Michelson Memorial church last Sunday. Our choir was never better. A most inspiring group of selections were sung for the benefit of a splendid congregation in the morning worship. One service man united with the church. He was most heartily welcomed.

In the evening a pageant of rare merit was presented with the junior choir supporting. Miss Billyann Clippert took a difficult part of reading the Bethlehem story and did it well. A Christmas tree, sans decorations graced the platform. Mrs. Clippert directed the music in her efficient manner. Much praise was given our school teachers for making this program a success. The White Gift offering was the largest we have had, $25.00, which goes to our Children's home.

Thursday (Dec. 31) marks completion of our first year of World War II.

The news parade of 1942 in Michigan might be summed up as follows:

Pearl Harbor angered us; Singapore shocked us. We tightened our belts in preparation for hardships. We witnessed the gradual conversion of Michigan automobile plants to war production. We waved goodbye to more Michigan boys in 1942 than the total of those who were called to service during World War I. Mother and Dad took to Red Cross training, air raid duty.

Our farms blessed us with bountiful harvests.

The summer tourist season, contrary to fears, proved to be surprisingly good in the lower peninsula, only fair in the upper peninsula.

Retailers struggled with price ceilings; consumers stood in lines for sugar coupons.

Michigan's political campaign, near eclipsed by war interest, was tame. Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, was unopposed for Republican nomination for governor. The pendulum swung in November, and Democrats Prentiss M. Brown and Murray D. VanWagoner were swept out of office in a Republican landslide.

History consists of events foreseen and unforeseen.

Few events of 1942 were as startling, in retrospect, as the stopping of the automobile assembly line and manufacture of passenger cars and trucks and a hurried conversion to all-out war production.

That, above all, "would not happen"—so we had been assured by authority of Alfred Sloan, chairman of the General Motors Corporation. Mr. Sloan had said that war requirements could be met by the automobile companies as an additional load on their civilian output. But don't criticize Mr. Sloan. Like most of us, he guessed badly—that's all.

Remember how we were stunned and then angered at the Japanese treachery at Pearl Harbor, while their diplomats acted as if they were seeking peace?

And didn't the radio commentator tell us that an American admiral had said we Americans could lick the dirty Japs "any Thursday morning?"

Of course, we thought it would be a mere sideshow to the Nazi cleanup.

Then came Singapore; the march of Japs down the Malay rubber plantations to that "impregnable" British fortress of the Orient.

Michigan and Malaya were linked in economic significance. Rubber trees! And that carried us back to the horse-and-buggy customs of grandfather's day—all because of Singapore in 1942.

Michigan newspapers carried news items daily of the sinking of American freighters and tankers off the Atlantic coast, victims of enemy submarines.

Next came a shortage of sugar. Sugar and tire rationing were introduced in April. Pontiac experimented with the "car club" idea for sharing transportation. On May 18 came another step in war regimentation, the arrival of price ceilings on thousands upon thousands of articles of merchandise.

Retailers struggled with questionnaires and reports. They were apprehensive of Washington snoopers and consumer retaliation. Many citizens had misgivings that social reform, not anti-inflation, was the goal of the national planners.

Newspapers began to shrink slowly in size, as automobile and tire and radio advertising dropped to a mere dribble.

Simultaneously, people, hungry for information about the war and civilian defense preparations, bought more newspapers than ever before.

Editors looked to England, read with avid interest that survival of the press had been achieved through circulation revenue, that subscription rates had been raised again and again, while copies of papers were rationed to readers. The British remanded independent news and views, and the press had come through its greatest crisis.

As selective service began draining workers from business, industry and farms, a new problem arose. It was called "manpower."

Michigan cities saw the rapid growth of munition output, while thousands of young men left for military training camps. This meant a head-on collision of economic forces, and predictions were rife that the women must leave the kitchen for the factory bench.

Willow Run smashed into the front pages in May, although it was six months later than the first bomber came off the assembly line and was flown to a fighting front.

Farmers saw their sons leave for war plants where wages were astronomically high or depart for training camps. Draft boards were reluctant to grant permanent deferment to farm labor; not until November was the farm laborer given a deferred rating of an essential war worker—too late for thousands of Michigan farmers.

The 1942 political campaign was enlivened by the threat of Gerald L. K. Smith, ex-Huey Long lieutenant and new Michigan radio crusader.

Next came the high-pressure community mobilization to uncover scrap metal, keep the steel mills in operation. Michigan met that challenge.

December brought rationing of automobile mileage. Inflated payrolls motivating a consumer rush to buy goods, and retail sales soared to new heights.

We read about the victorious Yanks in Africa and on the Solomons. We sang of a "White Christmas" and walked to work.

Yes, it was a historic year.

Land Sale

Notes for the Housewife's Manual

We're in the army now, whether we wear uniforms in Waves or Waacs, or whether we just stand guard over the kitchen sink and the gas range at home.

New orders are coming through from GHQ every day. For example—you can't go your corner druggist and rubbing alcohol for Grand unless you have a doctor's prescription. So if there's an invalid or semi-invalid in your home, who needs rubbing alcohol? the family doctor, or any doctor who isn't in the army, to write a prescription for you. Vast quantities of alcohol are needed in making explosives, the synthetic rubber we're all waiting for, and in other chemical operations necessary for war. There's plenty for medical use, but none for beauty baths and face refreshers.

If someone has borrowed your umbrella, and someone usually has—send out a tracer and get it back. You'll need it soon when walking instead of riding. Only one third as many umbrellas will be made this year as last—and they'll be more or less standardized. "Durable and serviceable" are the sinister words used by officials of the consumer durable goods division of WPB—but don't let that frighten you. American manufacturers have a way of making things attractive, even though practical. The standardization is mostly in the use of metal.

Women whose husbands used to say "Why don't you wear some clothes?" are going to do just that from now on till spring. A room temperature of 65 is good for health—the doctors say so—but it isn't comfortable if you're still wearing frivolous scarves. There's no glamour attached to outing flannel pajamas—but a lot of comfort. And WPB is making sure that outing flannel pajamas and night shirts will be available. Half the looms now being used for bag sheetings are being turned back to their old job.
